Attn: Talia Baker
CPARB Administrative Staff

Dear Ms. Baker and the Project Review Committee,

I am writing regarding the vacancies on the Project Review Committee (PRC) for the Construction Trades Labor seat. My name is Mallorie Davies, and I am currently the State Regulatory and Policy Coordinator for the Washington and Northern Idaho District Council of Laborers. As the State Regulatory and Policy coordinator I work closely with our apprenticeship program, with a focus on utilization and our apprenticeship standards. My other responsibilities center around prevail-wage complaints, pre-apprenticeship program development, engaging DBE and MBE utilization as well.

As a Laborer working in the field, I was on public works projects on major heavy highways, as well as civil design builds. I have experience working on the Interstate system nationwide having completed jobs in over 15 states. In Washington State, I worked on many WSDOT projects including the Skagit River bridge collapse emergency repair, as well as the I-405 toll lane expansion project through the Snohomish/King County corridor. On the civil side, I was a part of the 777x Carbon Wing Facility design-build with Hoffman Construction at the Everett Boeing plant. Over the last 4 years I have been an ANSI certified Instructor with the Northwest Laborers Employers Training Trust (NWLETT) working directly with our apprentices. While working at NWLETT I obtained my OSHA 500 and 510 certifications, I developed a WSDOT approved training curriculum, and continue to be an active member on the Traffic Control Oversight Committee. I believe that with my background of working on public works projects in both heavy highway and civil work, combined with my experience working for the NWLETT and my current position within the Washington and Northern Idaho District Council of Laborers that I would be a great candidate to fill the seat representing the construction trades.

A list of references to speak on my behalf are:
