I enjoy the signs on the pedestrian bridge. It tells me which events/festivals/etc., are coming up that I enjoy or may be interested in that I may or may not have been aware of. I can understand wanting to limit what goes up there, as it can be perceived that it's a reflection of the states position on subjects that could be controversial. That being said, I don't think that we should stop displaying signs at all. Maybe there is a way to have a "approval committee" that these organizations/individuals can submit their signs to for approval, if this doesn't happen already. I'm assuming there are already stipulations when it comes to the signs for appropriateness, size, and safety. There is also no reason why security cameras couldn't be placed on the walkway to deter and/or catch vandalism. That area needs more security lighting anyways, if I remember correctly.

I am in support of the proposed rules to restrict hanging and removing banners to State employees only. I am in support of some basic content restrictions - essentially limiting messaging to non-political statements/advertisements.

The bridge banners are an important way for area non-profits to advertise fundraising events easily and cost-effectively. I would recommend keeping the program. I would, however, support limiting banners to public agencies, non-profits & GMOs first option is best: prohibit ALL banners on the pedestrian bridge.

prohibiting ALL banners preserves the serenity and dignity of the capitol campus AND avoids any possibility of denying speech based on an ARBITRARY standard AND avoids backlashes, rebuttals and trivial "controversies" when we all have better things to do.

My opinion on the use of the bridge for marketing is that it is a great use of space. Why not use it for public announcements. Please do not turn it into an electronic billboard like on North I-5. That is VERY distracting. This acts as a benign reminder of events up coming in the area. Hopefully, it is a free service to the public.

Thank you for your time.

Having DES install is great, less for us to worry about doing when we're busy planning our event. However, it would've been great to have been given a warning about the rate hike, as it was very substantial (installation was a donation for our event by a local contractor) increasing within the following year would have been better so that we could adjust our budgets accordingly.

Thank you, it's a great service that you provide!
Have a merry Christmas,

I just realized that the email included additional proposed changes!

Prohibiting all banners to be placed on the bridge.

- As event promoters, we see this as an asset to promote to those out of towners visiting the state capital building. Additionally, some folks use LTAC grants to pay for the service and many local business see their logo as part of sponsorship and support of the event.

Implementing some restrictions on banner content and / or allowing only public service and governmental announcements.

- Isn't that the case now. I always thought it was PSA/Non profit using the space. an example of non PSA and Gov message would be nice to provide.

Placing no restrictions on bridge banner messaging.

- No restrictions = FREE SPEECH (as long as it isn't instructing hate or violence)

As soon as I saw a banner on the bridge advertising an "Arab" festival, I thought to myself, someone's going to complain about that! After all, Arabs are terrorists (NOT!). Sure enough, the notice about suspending bridge banner permits came not long after.

This is BS. Presumably there are already some standards in place for what can be posted (or would you really give me a permit to put up a banner that says "F@#& You, Donald Trump"?). If you limit banners to government agencies and PSA's, you'd better have a clear definition of "public service announcement" (that doesn't end up drawing you into law suits).

If you're really concerned about distracting downtown drivers, then don't allow any banners at all.

The bridge banners provide a real community service by publicizing worthwhile activities, events and fundraisers. Getting publicity is always a challenge for non-profit organizations. The art and entertainment events are made known to those of us who would not find out about them any other way. Every banner I have seen enriches the community by giving people a sense of belonging and a sense of place.

It's a good idea to reduce state liability by having state placement of the banners. I do hope they will not be restricted as this is one of the ways the state connects to life in the capital city--always a challenge, as you know. I appreciate the free speech commitment by the state in regard to events on campus.

With best regards,
SL

Bridge banners can be distracting to drivers and can distract from the appearance of the Capital Campus in a negative way. DES should implement restrictions on banner content to only allow relevant public service and governmental announcements. Community events such as Lakefair, are fun to know about and should be announced as they impact downtown Olympia (parking, street traffic, noise, etc.).

We have appreciated the opportunity over the years to be able to get the word out about our benefit show and helping to feed the hungry during the holiday season.

We have been careful to follow all your policies over the years, whether banner printing to having a licensed and bonded contractor hang the banner on the bridge. With the current change of policy, the costs will be prohibited to a non-profit like ours or many others that rely on this type of exposure to the community.

I ask that you take in consideration the good work that non-profits are doing to make this a vibrant, healthy community. Please do not impose more rules and costs, but rather find ways to make this a win win situation for the state, Enterprise Services and organizations that are doing good. Thank you.

I think you should continue to allow the banners to be placed on the bridge. I think it would make sense if the banner content would be limited to events and activities - i.e., not advertising a service or a political position, etc. - but just a way to get the word out about activities that are open to the public. Anyone putting on an activity should be allowed to apply, but the priority should be for non-profit groups.

The banner's absence did not affect attendance. Due to other factors we had record ticket sales. We've concluded that the bridge banner has little if any effect on event success.

DES must ban all banners and any other assembly and speech on the pedestrian bridge over Capitol Way or it must allow any banner content, including political. The only limitation is to secure the basic function of the bridge to assure pedestrian traffic and prevent obstruction to traffic on Capitol Way. Banner space should be on a first come, first served basis with reasonable time limitations.

The banners on that bridge serve a valuable public information service. Many community organizations rely on it to spread the word of their good efforts.

Frankly, if very unpopular gun-rights activists can assemble with signage by the Tivoli Fountain then very popular concerts by Olympia Symphony or very enlightened public servants creating events to support the United Way should be able to use signage on a public space such as the bridge.

If it's crucial to scale back use, the obvious compromise is to require a IRS 501(c)3 charitable organization tax status or a registered WA Secretary of State nonprofit organization status -- and expressly prohibit businesses and 501(c)4 organizations from using the public space.

Law that stipulates that no groups that promote violence or have a history of promoting violence should be allowed to post a banner.

A few authorize sign vendors could be approved for groups to use to ensure banners meet size, material, and graphic specifications. Banner size options seem appropriate as is. Graphic specifications specified for quick reference while driving, i.e. no small print that would cause drivers to spend too much time to read with eyes not on road while driving. Hanging method stipulated for safety for installers and so banner does not fall on own into traffic or cannot be easily removed by vandals. Banners up no longer than 1 business day after event.

Penalty (community service) established for individuals for vandalizing or not authorized to remove banner. Most individuals likely to commit this act would not be able to pay a penalty fee.

Fee to hang banner(s) should include state employee staff costs to install, remove, and discard (regular hourly rate, not overtime and flat fee for disposal). Some groups may want their banner back so discard fee would not be included. Fee could also include a daily or weekly rate?

The banners do provide advertisement for community events and that part is good. However, in light of current events, the banners also shield visibility of the bridge - who may be up there waiting to throw something down on passerbys or worse? A bit creepy if you think of it that way. Please consider this potential safety issue.

I know of many non-profits who really benefit from the free availability of this banner. The only other one in Olympia, over State St. is equally popular, but, although nominally free, putting a banner there incurs higher costs due to larger required standard size for banners and the need to pay for professional installation and removal.

The banners displayed on the bridge are a time-honored tradition since the bridge first went up. It is often the only notice of an upcoming event that I see as I don't receive the newspaper. I support the continuance of the banner display, but suggest a panel review of both private, DES and service groups representation to review acceptance of a request.

I prefer the continuation of banners. I believe they are helpful in knowing what is happening on the Capitol Campus and in our city and region. I no longer take the newspaper, so this is one way that I know of special events. I have had no problem with all the banners in the past and hope you continue to handle it exactly as you have in the past. I don't think it is a traffic/safety concern and I believe too much regulation and application process is overkill.

I hope you continue to allow them and make it accessible to everyone equally.

The draft policy should prohibit posting of religious messages or advertisements for religious events on the pedestrian bridge. Allowing those types of messages or advertisements would give the appearance that the state is endorsing a particular religious group or event, and that would be improper under both the federal and state constitutions.

The pedestrian bridge is an excellent site to post banners for registered non-profit organizations. We would not want to see the site being used for personal or political purposes. Nominal fees could be charged for posting the signs with a graduated fee system for the duration the sign will be displayed with a limit of one week (seven days) at any one given time frame. The organization could request, through the permitting process, more posting after a set time frame. This will allow other non-profit organizations to advertise.

Q4: Organization	Entertainment Explosion (formerly also with Oly Choral Society)

Q5: Comments

Thanks for the opportunity. Oly Choral Society and Entertainment Explosion jointly own the same banner, each using one side of it when appropriate, and have done so for many years. Now with Entertainment Explosion we found the banner idea very helpful in announcing our shows to raise money for homeless kids. It started out (if memory is correct) at no cost! Then it was $50. Then it raised to $65. Then $65 per week, so for our two weeks it was $130. Then an additional $130 charge was added for government staff to put up the banner, total $260. Our board voted to discontinue use until the fee became more reasonable. My opinion is that government staff can still put up the banner (liability risk of it falling on the street if amateurs are trying it), but that since my guess is that those folks are paid regardless what they are doing, remove the new $130 fee. We would return to using the banner idea if that were to happen, I think. Thanks, Jim

I don't believe our bridges should be advertising spots for every fund-raiser out there. Such things can be very distracting to drivers who, instead of looking ahead at the traffic, are looking up to the banner. I say "keep the ban!"

My concern is that civil rights activities, like the gay pride parade, will continue to be allowed- they should continue to be allowed to have a banner.

The guidelines sound reasonable and based in common sense. I didn't see what the cost would be and am hoping that it will still be in my budget for our annual library fundraiser, the Used Book and Toy Sale. It is the most effective of our community advertisement strategies and brings many people to the sale.

I sincerrelly hope display of banners over Capitol Way will continue. It is central to our group raising money for non-profit groups in this area. The new regulations are logical; however, the cost asociated with them is high by our standards. The City of Olympia does not charge for the same service. We were able to porvice a bonded banner hanger at no cost and met all the reuglations. Our only porblem oer the many years we have been doing this was a group not removing hteir banner by the time it was our turn. We took down theri banner and returned it to the office and all worked out well.

Please permit banners to be displayed. Oscar H. S

We have appreciated the use of this space to advertise free community events and would be in support of continued allowance of use for non-profits and community organizations as a means of sharing helpful and interesting information about community events and resources available to the public. The City of Olympia State Ave banner program may be a good resource to model after. City employees handle all banner hanging and takedown and there is an helpful and accessible online calendar where organizations can see what weeks are available ahead of putting in a request.

I think the type of agency/event represented by banners, to date, should continue to be represented. Non-profit, of benefit to the community, and beyond, and not of political content, correct?
We have no objection to the requirement of an adequately insured contractor hanging the banner. We've been fortunate to have a qualified individual donate that service to us.
However, the new cost imposed in 2016 is prohibitive for some organizations. If the new fees are retained after you have finalized policy, we will need to withdraw our pending application.
Thank you!

It is essential for smaller nonprofits, like the Rachel Corrie Foundation, to get the word out about local events occurring in Olympia. The Pedestrian Bridge is a large public space that provides us the ability to publicize to a wide range of folks. We received a lot of attendees in October 2016 to our biennial festival, The Olympia Arab Festival - Shuruq III, because of the banner we were able to hang on the pedestrian bridge. While the costs are minimal it could be beneficial to all local nonprofits to institute a nonprofit rate to help those organizations who may not be able to afford the additional $130 fee for DES employees to hang the banner. We understand safety is concern but by no longer allowing licensed contractors to hang banners you prevent some nonprofits who might be willing to hang a banner as an in-kind donation. Regardless of cost, it's an essential resource for nonprofits looking to advertise their events and we've had great experience with all at DES who have helped us through the process of hanging our banner.

Call an end to the use of the pedestrian bridge for any and all banners. Continuing the availability of the bridge for banners and adverts will just soak up DES "thinking and evaluation time" that could be used for truly pressing questions such as "What and how can we do things that would make life easier or better for our homeless population?"

cartierlovejesduas Quick note, while history is full of folks who want to be better than one another, the phrase "we are all one" is to get people thinking. On a genetic level, most living things, much less humanity, is nearly indistinguishable. Being different than, apart from is ego. I'm better than you because of a protein in my skin, my view of an invisible puppet master, my world view, the accident of my birth. While the actions on these beliefs create separateness, are they the real separateness or the illusion?

We support the proposed policy on placing banners on the State Capitol pedestrian bridge. It is important to assure that only appropriate banners advertising local community events and related issues be affixed to the state owned bridge. We also support the requirement to meet DES imposed standards for the banner design and placement to assure safety of pedestrians, motorists and others using Capital Way. Please ensure that the timeframes, fees, application and banner requirements are easily found on the DES website, and that the fees are kept low enough for nonprofits such as ours to be able to afford this method of alerting the public to community events. Thank you for your consideration of our comments.

To Whom it May Concern,

I am the organizer for the popular downtown event, the Olympia Brew Fest. It celebrates northwest brewing in an area that was quite literally built by the brewing industry. From my reading of the proposed policy changes to the banner application and review policy, it appears that our event will no longer be welcome to advertise on the Capitol Way pedestrian bridge since we are an event that features alcohol. I would regard that as unfortunate and perhaps even heavy-handed, if that were the case. We have advertised on the bridge every year since we started and I have never heard any complaints regarding our banner's content from Enterprise Services. I would invite further deliberation to the proposed banner policy changes that does not discriminate against legal and historic industries.

Thank you,

Mike M

Q5: Comments

The Friends of the Olympia Library have for many years posted banners advertising their book sales on the pedestrian bridge over Capitol Way. All of the proceeds of the sales go to support the Olympia Library and if we were to continue advertising in this way, at the current pricing, the cost (almost $200) takes more than 10% of the total realized from each sale. The FOL would like the current pricing to be reviewed and adjusted downward. As the pricing stands now, we can no longer justify using this wonderfully visible advertising resource.
