I would like submit my application for the Owner-Hugh Ed position on the CPARB Project Review Committee.

Jeannie Natta
Sr. Project Manager, Project Delivery Group, University of Washington Facilities
University Facilities Building, Box 352205 / Seattle, WA 98195

Jeannie Natta is the Senior Project Manager for the University of Washington's Project Delivery Group and has led two of the University's largest and most complex projects while pioneering the use of an innovative design-build contract. Her work focuses almost entirely on projects delivered via alternative public works delivery methods. She is a skilled leader of large project teams and well understands what it takes for a team to deliver a project well. She has been with the University of Washington since August 2010, has a Master's Degree in Construction Management from the UW, and has been a guest lecturer in masters-level construction management courses.
