This contract is 100% federal funded, exempt from OFM freeze criteria. Approved by Division Director. The Washington State Military Department (Military Department) Security Office has the responsibility for all security matters relating to Camp Murray and its properties. Since 9/11, the military has been on a heightened alert status in order to prevent terrorist activities. As a result of the alert status, the Military Department arms its state civilian security guards. The arming process for the current and future security guard staff has several steps. One step requires that psychological evaluations be performed on potential candidates to determine their suitability to carry firearms. Contractor to provide psychological evaluations for candidates in the armed security guard hiring process.
