DES has determined that the use of Job Order Contracting will benefit the public by providing an effective means of reducing total lead-time and cost for public works projects or repair required at public facilities through the use of unit price books and work orders by eliminating time-consuming, costly aspects of traditional public works process.

RCW Chapter 39.10 outlines the requirements and authorizes DES to utilize this contracting procedure. All proposal under this solicitation are subject to RCW 39.10.470

The evaluation of this criterion will be based on the difference between the proposed composite coefficient and the lowest conforming composite coefficient received from Finalists. Scores will be based on how far above the lowest composite coefficient any proposed composite coefficient is. This difference will be expressed as a percentage according to the following formula and the result will be evaluated using the table below.

Percent above lowest composite coefficient = $[(\text{Proposed composite coefficient} - \text{Lowest composite coefficient}) / \text{Lowest composite coefficient}] \times 100$

Example:

Let 1.0116 = the lowest composite coefficient, and let 1.25 = the proposed composite coefficient.

Then the percent above lowest composite coefficient:

$[(1.25 - 1.0116) / 1.0116] \times 100 = 23.6\%$; Then, according to the table below, 4 points would be assigned]

Points will be awarded for this criterion as follows:

- Lowest composite coefficient 10 points
- Composite coefficient within 10% of low conforming value 8 points
- Composite coefficient within 20% of low conforming value 6 points
- Composite coefficient within 40% of low conforming value 4 points
- Composite coefficient within 60% of low conforming value 2 points

14.3 A calculated adjusted coefficient will be determined using the bid coefficients. The calculated adjusted coefficients will then be summed to determine the composite coefficient.

Sample of Bid Coefficient Calculation

Work Hour Multiplier		Bid Coefficient	Adjusted Coefficient

Non-standard	0.10	1.2	0.12
Composite Coefficient			3.524

15. SCORING METHODOLOGY

- 15.1 In evaluating each of the criteria during both phases, the evaluation committee will identify significant and minor strengths and weaknesses from the submissions. The evaluation committee will then use the following guidelines to award points for each selection criterion, based on the weighting assigned in the RFP and any addenda. After initial scoring, the evaluation committee will come to a consensus ranking of the Contractors.
- a. Definition of “strength” and “weakness”:
- i. The term “strength” ultimately represents a benefit to the Project and is expected to increase the Contractor’s ability to meet or exceed the Project Goals. A minor strength has a slight positive influence and a significant strength has a considerable positive influence on the Contractor’s ability to exceed the Project Goals.
 - ii. The term “weakness” detracts from the Contractor’s ability to meet the Project Goals and may result in inefficient or ineffective performance. A minor weakness has a slight negative influence and a significant weakness has a considerable negative influence on the Contractor’s ability to exceed the Project Goals.
- b. Scoring:
- i. Excellent (81-100 percent of points available): The Evaluative Criteria demonstrates an approach that is considered to exceed the Project Goals and the RFP requirements and provide a consistently outstanding level of quality. To be considered Excellent, it must be determined to have significant strengths and/or a number of minor strengths and few or no appreciable weaknesses.
 - ii. Good (61-80 percent of available points): The Evaluative Criteria demonstrates an approach that is considered to meet the RFP in a beneficial way (providing advantages, benefits, or added value to the Project) and offers quality. To be considered Good, it must be determined to have strengths and few, if any, significant weaknesses. Minor weaknesses are offset by strengths.
 - iii. Fair (41-60 percent of available points): The Evaluative Criteria demonstrates an approach that contains minor and/or significant weaknesses and limited appreciable strengths.
 - iv. Deficient (0-40 percent of available points): The Evaluative Criteria demonstrates an approach that contains significant weaknesses and no appreciable strengths.
 - v. Non-Responsive: Does not meet the Minimum Qualifications required for evaluation. In addition, the Owner, at its sole discretion, may reject any Evaluative Criteria deemed non-responsive to any of the requirements.
